THREATS MADE THROUGH MAILS

Precautions Taken to Protect Chief Justice Caverly.

SENTENCE KNOWN SEPT. 10

Police Cordon to Be Thrown Around the Criminal Courts Building and No Spectators Will Be Admitted. Judge Caverly Takes Exception to Closing Remarks of State's Attorney Crowe—End of the Hearing.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Justice Caverly, who has the case of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, slayers of Robert Franks, under consideration, has received hundreds of threatening letters since the murder hearing started, but of these only two are taken seriously.

One of these threatens the life of the judge and the other threatens bombing of the old Criminal Court building should the judge fail to impose the death penalty.

As a result extra policemen will be stationed in all corridors and will form a solid flank around the building on Sept. 10, when Judge Caverly will render his decision. All other branches of criminal court will suspend until 11 a. m., so that the way will be cleared to keep every one from entering.

Justice Caverly also announced that on the day of sentence no spectators would be permitted. Only members of the press, members of the families of the persons involved in the case and the various attorneys will be permitted in the court room.

Before concluding the case, Justice Caverly said he would order stricken from the testimony remarks having to do with the charge that testimony had been introduced to "intimidate the court."

"This court will not be intimidated by anyone or anything," Justice Caverly declared. He said the criticism of the length of time involved in the case and the introduction of testimony for the pleas of guilty was unfounded. "Neither wealth nor poverty had anything to do with this case," Justice Caverly declared. "Everything done by this court was done for the purpose of justice."

Court Resents Remark. State's Attorney Crowe concluded his argument with a storm of invectives. He termed the murder of Robert Franks "the dirtiest in the history of Chicago," and the murderers he classed with rattlesnakes and mad dogs. The crime was committed, he said, simply for the $10,000 ransom. Crowe attacked Attorney Darrow's claim of youth as a mitigating circumstance.

"If we are to punish crime and stop crime by punishment, how can we punish if age is to be advanced as a defense?" Crowe asked. "I believe that if it was right for the boys of 18 who went to their deaths in the trenches to protect our laws, then why shouldn't we hang these men of 19, who violated the laws?"

Justice Caverly took sharp exception to the closing remarks of Crowe, in which the latter told of Leopold's feeling that he would escape the gallows if he was brought before a friendly judge. He said: "The court orders stricken from the records the closing remarks of the state's attorney as being a cowardly and dastardly assault upon the integrity of this court. And it could not be used for any other purpose except to incite a mob to try and intimidate this court."

The state's attorney protested he did not mean his statement in that way, stating he merely wanted to put his personal feelings before the court. Justice Caverly, however, held the remarks were improper and that the court had to take cognizance of them.

Shoots Self and Leaps Into Lake. Chicago, Aug. 29.—Because he "was hopelessly sick" and wanted a bullet to "hurry matters," Allison Ives, 50, of Decatur, Mich., stood on the rail of the lake steamer City of Saugatuck, shot himself and plunged into Lake Michigan.

Rules Against McCoy. Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—Grand jury indictments against Kid McCoy charging him with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors will stand, Judge Judge Charles Crail ruled. Judge Crail set Tuesday as the time for McCoy's plea.

"Smoke," Are fighting cat of Engine company 31, New York, who slid poles and answered alarms with the firemen, died of self-starvation at a cat hospital.

DANIEL W. BELL

Deputy Commissioner of Accounts of Federal Treasury.

Ford Denies Story.

Detroit, Aug. 29.—Henry Ford, homeward bound on his yacht in Lake Ontario, used the wireless to repudiate an interview defending the Klan, purported to have been given out by him in Montreal. "I gave no interview to anyone, and did not discuss the Klan in any manner whatsoever. Please make absolute denial of the false report," Ford's message to officials at his Dearborn office said.

Kills Self in Room.

Wilmington, O., Aug. 29.—David Sewell, 70, was found dead in his room here with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver at his side. He had been in ill health.

GEM ROBBERY CLEARED UP

Actress' Alleged Confession Confirmed by Others.

FOUR PERSONS UNDER ARREST

Detectives Searching for the "Master Mind" Who Had Directed the $100,000 Holdup of a Maiden Lane Jeweler—Suspects Identified by the Victim of the Robbery—Private Detective Credited With Round Up.

New York, Aug. 29.—Dorothy Trost Burns, a stage beauty, is alleged to have made a confession to the police that may clear up jewel robberies that total $15,000,000. Police said the girl, who carried $4,500 in a handbag when arrested, wrote a confession on a piece of paper in which she declared she acted as lookout when her husband, James J. Burns, aged 20, a chauffeur, and Harry Chance, aged 21, also a chauffeur, entered the Maiden lane jewelry establishment of Alexander Feldenheimer, tied him and a customer, Mark Wolin, and fled with $100,000 in unset diamonds. Detective Gerald Luisi arrested the trio as they sat in Mrs. Burns' father's restaurant. He said they had no part in the other big jewel thefts, but they had disposed of their loot through a "fence," who undoubtedly had received other large consignments of stolen gems.

Burns and Chance were identified by Feldenheimer as the men who had held him up. According to the police they confirmed the actress' confession and added information which led to the identity and arrest of Mark Wolin, a jeweler, as "the red-headed fellow" who, at the command of the "master mind," had directed the bandits' operations after they invaded the jewelry shop. The "master mind" is still at large.

Mrs. Burns said the trio journeyed by subway to the Broadway entrance of the building where Feldenheimer operated. She remained at the curb as a lookout. Her husband and Chance took an elevator to the ninth floor and Feldenheimer's shop. They had invaded the "dead line" of the wholesale jewelry district, beyond which no known crook is permitted by the police to pass. Shortly the trio were reunited at the Broadway entrance and the men, concealing two packets containing $100,000 worth of gems, merged with the throngs. They turned over the gems to a "fence" and received $6,000 in cash, police said. Meanwhile, Feldenheimer worked a hand from the bonds that imprisoned him and pressed an alarm which brought scores of detectives to the scene. But the robbers had escaped.

Mrs. Freda Trost, the actress' mother, was taken in custody. Detectives who investigated her cider selling establishment while searching for the daughter, alleged they found liquor, blackjacks and other weapons on the premises.

HITS EMERGENCY FUND

Cost of State Probes Criticized by Finance Director Baker.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—State Finance Director Baker declares that the cost of investigating the Municipal Savings and Loan company and its allied concerns and the probe of the affairs of the Cleveland Discount company, all of Cleveland, by Attorney General Crabbe, at the request of Governor Donahey, is causing a serious strain on the emergency fund of Ohio. Baker says Crabbe first got $77,500 from the board of control of the emergency fund on May 1 for the investigation. In his letter to the board at that time he estimated that the cost of the investigation would be $15,000. On July 14 Crabbe got $10,000 from the fund for the same purpose and Wednesday he got another $10,000, which makes a total of $27,500 to date. Crabbe is paying his three investigators $1,500 each a month. This includes David Green, his permanent Cleveland counsel, who is also drawing $250 a month regular salary.

Sleuths In Drive Against Bandits.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—With the return of vacationists, Brigadier General Butler, director of public safety, prepared to combat a fall crime wave. Eighty detectives, with shoot to kill orders issued by the general, are cruising about the city in automobiles in a new drive on holdup men. The detectives were enjoined to be on the lookout especially for the lone type of bandits, who have recently held up several stores in the central section of the city.

DOINS IN OHIO

Record Crowds at Fair.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—Governor's day, the big day at the exposition, combined with perfect weather and a full program, brought out the largest crowd of the week. "Attendance this week has been remarkable considering the financial condition of the people, especially the farm people and the laborers," Director Truax said. "Attendance at county fairs up to the present this year has been very light, which makes it all the more surprising that we have had record crowds here."

Increase Not Allowed.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—The state public utilities commission rejected the application of the Delaware Water company for increased rates to consumers in that city. The new rates were to have become effective Sept. 1. Delaware has no municipal waterworks and purchases its supply from a private corporation. The application for increased rates had been protested by the mayor and council of that city.

Cut Hearing Continued.

Pomeroy, O., Aug. 29.—At the county request the case against the congregation of the Pentecost Holiness church was continued two weeks. Church members are charged with contributing to the delinquency of minor members of the cult. It was intimated that since the members apparently were disposed to stop their alleged "immoral orgies of dance," the charges might be quashed.

Boy Shot.

Marion, O., Aug. 29.—Darrell Lee, 16, has a bullet wound in his right hip as the result of an alleged attempt to rob the confectionery store of Ralph King. Two companions of Lee's escaped in the shower of bullets fired by King, one of which struck Lee in the hip.

Suspect Gives Bond.

Hamilton, O., Aug. 29.—Halford Johnson, charged with being one of seven bandits who robbed two Midwestern bank messengers of $17,000 in currency on May 13, was released on $500 bond here. His preliminary hearing was postponed until Oct. 1.

Fatal Dive.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 29.—Charles A. Turner, 37, dived into a shallow swimming pool and broke his neck. The body was taken to his former home in Newcastle, Pa. He leaves a wife and two children and was a member of Bellaire, O., lodge of Masons.

Dies In Grain Bin.

Urbana, O., Aug. 29.—Charles Drake, 9, of Woodstock, was smothered to death when he fell into a bin containing 1,000 bushels of wheat at the Ohio Elevator company's plant at Woodstock.

Dies of Burns.

Cincinnati, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Lizzie Herr, 75, died as the result of being scalded when she fell down a flight of stairs and spilled a pot of hot coffee which she was carrying at her home here.

Costly Blaze.

Brooklyn, Mich., Aug. 29.—The National Corn Products plant, the lumber yard of Neely Brothers and a residence were destroyed by fire, with an estimated loss of $100,000.

DONAHEY MAY HOLD HEARING

Franklin County Sheriff Likely to Face Charges.

TERM EXPIRES NEW YEAR'S

Sheriff, It Is Stated, Will Face Allegations Affecting His Conduct In Office Since His Trial In Common Pleas Court Recently on Charge of Bribery—Was Indicted on Five Counts.

Columbus, Aug. 29.—Governor Donahey, it is reported here, will summon Sheriff Frank Holycross of Franklin county to explain why he should not be removed on charges of misconduct in office.

It is stated that Holycross will face charges affecting his conduct since his trial in common pleas court recently on a charge of bribery. At that time a jury disagreed. Charges now in process of preparation, it is reported, will be made against the sheriff by the governor. Holycross then will be given time to prepare his defense at a public hearing.

Once before charges against Holycross were filed before the governor and a hearing date was set for April 8, 1924. The Franklin county grand jury indicted Holycross on five counts. He was tried on the bribery charge. Pending the outcome of this trial Donahey decided to leave the matter up to the court entirely. When the jury disagreed, and while there was still a chance of another court trial, Donahey took no further action. The sheriff's term of office expires next January.

The sheriff was indicted by a special grand jury March 21 on five counts, which charged that he accepted bribes from divers persons. One count alleged he accepted a bribe of $1,000 from David Ungerleider of Wheeling, W. Va., for releasing two of Ungerleider's men after they had been arrested while transporting whisky from Wheeling to Columbus.

The sheriff will not be called on to face the charges of bribery on which he was tried before a jury. The charges on which he will be tried include allegations of intoxication, consorting with women and convivance with bootleggers, but according to Secretary Meckstroth they are based on affidavits as to his conduct since his trial in common pleas court.

CONTRACTORS HELD AT CHILLICOTHE

Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud Government.

Chillicothe, O., Aug. 29.—Charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and wholesale and systematic theft of government property were made against three officials of the Rose Brothers company, wrecking contractors. The men were arrested here by United States Marshal Lampman of Columbus. They are Myron G. Rose, A. J. Phillips and Lawrence C. Williams. The accused appeared before United States Commissioner Lyle S. Evans and hearing on their case was set for Sept. 18. They were released on $10,000 bond each.

The Rose Brothers company was engaged in wrecking the old barracks at Camp Sherman here. The specific references to property stolen by the company officials mentioned bathtubs, doors and pipe.

The arrests climaxed an investigation which had been in progress at Camp Sherman for two months under the direction of J. S. Menefee of the Cincinnati district attorney's office, assisted by S. T. Fisk, property custodian at the camp, and L. W. Gerth, chief of police at the camp. All government property found at the Rose company building will be seized, according to Marshal Lampman.

Ohio Elks Elect.

Cedar Point, O., Aug. 29.—George A. Snyder of Fostoria was elected head of the Ohio Elks' association. Rudd G. Gue of New Lexington was elected first vice president; John Lefebvre of Toledo, second vice president; Norman C. Parr of New Philadelphia, third vice president. John W. Ranney of Columbus was re-elected secretary and William Petrie of Cincinnati was re-elected treasurer. Cedar Point was chosen as the scene of next year's convention.

TWO WOMEN ACCUSED

Alleged Plot to Escape From Reformatory Nipped In the Bud.

Canton, O., Aug. 29.—An alleged plot to liberate several inmates of the Marysville reformatory for women was revealed by Mrs. Lillian Manderbaugh, former probation officer of Stark county, now serving a term for forgery, who overheard it while apparently sleeping in her cell. Mrs. Katherine Kaber, Lakewood murderer, is accused of being one of the pair plotting to break out. The other is said to be Mrs. Mamie Lee Ehlers. Mrs. Manderbaugh informed the matron, Mrs. Louise Mittendorf, who called Canton police.

"Margaret Williams, as soon as she was released, was to get in touch with two Canton men, who they called only by the names of Nick and Charlie," Mrs. Manderbaugh said. "The men were to go to the reformatory and see the matron. When they were alone with her they were to leap on her, bind and gag her, take her keys and release Mrs. Kaber and Mrs. Ehlers," she added.

Trade Board's Order Challenged.

Cincinnati, Aug. 29.—The right of the federal trade commission to define what formulas manufacturers of naphtha soap should follow is challenged in a petition filed in the United States circuit court of appeals here. The suit was filed by the Proctor & Gamble company and the Proctor and Gamble Distributing company, both of Cincinnati. It is the result of an order issued by the federal trade commission two weeks ago in which the local companies are ordered to desist from advertising certain of their products as "naphtha" washing powder or soap chips.

Sues to Recover Taxes.

Dayton, O., Aug. 29.—In local common pleas court, the Guaranty Trust company of New York brought suit against L. M. Beard, county treasurer, to recover $158,070.44, paid in settlement of taxes, penalties and interest on the properties of the Barney & Smith Car company. The holdings of the company, which has been in the hands of a receiver, Valentine Winters, for five years, were sold last June at auction for $437,606.50. But, the trust company points out, the taxes were levied on a valuation of $938,769.

Baker Saves Man From Mob.

Easton, Md., Aug. 29.—By capturing the colored man who is alleged to have attacked his sister-in-law, Frank Baker, former home-run king, saved him from being lynched by an angry mob here. Baker took the man to jail despite protests of a crowd and fled charges against him. Mrs. Baker is reported to be in serious condition. Baker found the man shortly after the alleged attack.

Coolidge Returns to Capital.

Washington, Aug. 29.—President and Mrs. Coolidge arrived at the white house today rested from his two weeks' vacation in Vermont. The president this afternoon will address the Fraternal congress from the south portico of the white house. He has accepted an invitation to address the Holy Name society convention Sept. 20, in Washington, and some believe if he intends to make a reply to John W. Davis, Democratic nominee, on the Ku Klux Klan he may do so at such a time.

"LOVE IN COTTAGE" BELONGS TO PAST

Modern Maid Not Willing to Take Chances.

A large class of girls in an American college was asked the other day if any of them would marry a man whose income was but $1,000 a year. Not a single hand was raised. It was only when a salary of $3,000 was mentioned that any enthusiasm was shown, while many held out for a higher figure. The opinions of most girls the country over obviously have undergone a remarkable transformation in the past few years.

It is significant that the class in this case had taken a course in household economics and was familiar with the science of devising household budgets.

The president of a southern college recently advised his students not to consider matrimony on a salary of less than $4,000 a year. The students in this case were not drawn from large cities, where living costs are at their highest, but from the country and small towns or cities. They were recruited, however, as a rule from well-to-do families.

It naturally might be expected that the youths of the large or so-called fashionable colleges would consider marriage unjustified except on a much larger income.

The conclusions reached by the students of household economics in this respect will be read with interest by the great mass of housekeepers. With characteristic academic thoroughness the cost of maintaining a home in the country or city has been calculated to the penny.

The rent is set down as a fixed percentage of the income. Allowances are duly made for food, clothes, education and amusements. The figures mathematically are correct.

According to these students of economics, marriage is not justified on a salary of less than $40 a week and few in some colleges would take a chance at less.

It is interesting to note in this connection, however, that more than 1,000,000 marriages took place in America last year.

Benefit in Wearing Glasses.

Wearing glasses does not weaken the eyes. This effect is apparent because the eye gives up straining and reveals the full necessity for glasses. Often eyes become so strengthened by the rest thus given that after a time the glasses are no longer needed.

AIR MAIL'S PILOTS DOING GREAT WORK

They Have Flown Nearly Six Million Miles.

Chicago.—Pilots winging their way back and forth across the United States in the air mail service had covered 5,364,810 miles up to May 31, a distance done in 55,262 hours, according to Luther K. Bell, traffic manager of air mail service here. It is a general average of nearly 92 miles an hour.

The names of 41 flyers who have given more than 100 hours' service to air mail are contained in a report from Bell, with the veteran E. Hamilton Lee, Hazelhurst headquarters, leading in number of hours. His total May 31 was 2,387 hours and 36 minutes for a distance of 201,205 miles. He was appointed to the air mail in December, 1918, and at present has the "run" between Long Island and Cleveland.

To Pilot William C. Hopson, Omaha headquarters, went the honor, however, of having flown his plane the greatest distance. In 2,236 hours and 7 minutes service he covered 221,876 miles. He now follows the air path between Chicago and Omaha. Hopson is a Hill City, Kan., product, who entered the air mail service in April, 1920, after a long record in civilian and army flying.

Only a few hours separated Lee and James H. Knight for first place. The pilot who has made enviable records in night flying and staged his memorable race with death had given 2,311 hours and 58 minutes to the service when the compilation was made, in which time he had traveled 211,005 miles. Knight is another Kansas man, born in Lincoln, who first entered the air mail service in June, 1919. He resigned May 20, 1920, and was reappointed in October, 1920. His is the Omaha-Cheyenne route.

Others who have served more than 2,000 hours, named according to rank in hours, are James P. Murray, headquarters Cheyenne, Cheyenne-Omaha run; William C. Hopson, Frank B. Yager, headquarters Cheyenne, Cheyenne-Omaha run; Warren D. Williams, headquarters Cleveland, Chicago-Cleveland run; Edison E. Monton, headquarters Reno, Reno-Elko run; Wesley L. Smith, headquarters Hazelhurst, Hazelhurst-Cleveland run; L. H. Garrison, headquarters Omaha, Chicago-Omaha run, and Harry G. Smith, headquarters Omaha, Cheyenne-Omaha run.

Only Woman Colonel in the United States

Miss Annie Rounge of Ashland, Ky., is the only woman who has ever been made a Kentucky colonel. She was a member of the staff of Governor Black years ago and because of her early efforts in behalf of suffrage she was awarded the Blue Grass emblem.

Plant Parasites Strip Leaves From Sycamores

Washington.—Sycamores in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and Arkansas are being completely stripped of leaves by a heavy infection of sycamore blight, a fungus disease known as gnominia veneta, according to reports received by the U. S. Department of Agriculture here. In Ohio the same plant parasite which is damaging the sycamore has also attacked the white oaks. Many valuable trees will be severely damaged if not completely killed by the epidemic. The cool, wet spring is thought to have favored the growth and spread of this sycamore blight.

Snap a Safety Pin in Baby's Throat

Minneapolis.—An opened safety-pin which had been lodged in the throat of a nine-months-old boy for thirty-six hours, was removed by physicians at General hospital. The child probably will recover. When the babe was taken to the hospital an X-ray photograph showed that the point of the pin was sticking upward, which made removal more than ordinarily difficult. The extraction was accomplished by reaching into the throat with delicate instruments and closing the pin so the point was shielded by the safety catch.

Well to Let Him Swim By

One of the largest animals that ever lived has left a record of his size in the phosphate beds about South Carolina in the form of large teeth. The sharks which possessed these teeth, must have been 80 or 90 feet in length if we may judge by comparison with present day sharks and their teeth.

From the Sanskrit

"Avatar" comes from a Sanskrit word meaning a "descent." It is applied particularly to the descent of a Hindu deity to earth in a manifest form, either for beneficent or retributive reasons. It corresponds to the Christian term "reincarnation."

Be Prepared to Act

Do the right thing at the right time. In a half hour you may lose that which cost a lifetime to obtain. History tells that an officer's neglect to send off a rocket on schedule time delayed the freedom of Holland 20 years.—Grit.

Wood From Cobs

A good substitute for wood is said to have been made from corn cobs. The cobs are ground into a pulp, mixed with a substance that binds the product together and compacted by powerful hydraulic pressure. When the process is finished, it is said the wood is so hard that it can be whittled, shaved or turned in a lathe without danger of chipping.

Wireless Telegraphy

Marconi first succeeded in telegraphing certain signals across the Atlantic in 1901 and the first complete message was sent in 1903. Transoceanic telephony was first accomplished in 1915, when speech was transmitted from Washington to Paris and to Honolulu, the latter distance being almost 5,000 miles.

Monkey-Talk.

Professor Garner reports that the female ape says "Moo-hoo," and the male ape replies "Wahoo." Evolution doesn't appear to have carried us very far. A chap on the moonlit beach last night said, "Who's is oo?" and the girl replied, "Ts oo's."—San Francisco Chronicle.

ACTION TO CHECK RADICAL ELEMENT

Steps of national dimensions to curb the activities of radical elements who use un-American methods in public speeches were taken by members of the American Legion at Buffalo, N. Y., recently as the outcome of a clash between members of the Legion and Proletarian party orators.

As the climax of a series of un-American speeches of radicals in Lafayette square, Legion men on the eve of Flag day put to rout a Proletarian speaker, who, standing in the shadow of a monument in memory of the nation's dead defenders, was hurling philippics against the nation, the flag and all "milk-fed patriots." The speaker, a Chicago man, took to his heels and sought refuge at the Proletarian headquarters. He attempted to obtain a warrant against the Legionnaire who pushed him from his soap box, but the judge refused to issue one, stating that the man did his duty. The Legion men then made an insistent demand to city officials that an end be brought to all public speeches, "such as are being vomited by Reds in Lafayette square, and such as would incite a riot by any group of patriotic men exposed to the spleen." Both Mayor Schwab and Commissioner Meahl agreed to revoke permits of all radical parties that have been allowed to speak in public places, such as Lafayette square.

In commenting upon the action of the Legionnaires of Buffalo in dispersing the radical meeting, Garland W. Powell, national director, Americanism commission of the American Legion, said: "The action taken by patriots in Buffalo was not an official act of the American Legion. However, I am proud to state that no red-blooded American will allow any man to slander those men who sacrificed their all in defense of their country." In this regard, the Americanism commission of the Legion has taken steps to preclude the unpatriotic activities of organizations advocating the repeal of all sedition and criminal syndicalist laws throughout the United States. These people are also advocating "free speech," speech of the kind that allows the advocacy of the overthrow of our government by force of arms, which means the overthrow of the government which guarantees free speech.

Police Chief Zimmerman of Buffalo stated the case of "free speech" when, as a reaction to the Lafayette square affair, he said: "It is all very well to talk about free speech but when speakers overstep the bounds they have got to be muzzled, with an iron hand if necessary."

Legion Comes to Aid of Buddy and Family

Things looked pretty bad for Ed Rowland of Okanogan, Wash., disabled veteran of the World war, when his case came to the attention of the American Legion of Okanogan. In September, 1918, Ed volunteered to help clear out a German machine gun nest that was holding up the advance of his company in the Argonne forest. He eliminated the troublesome machine gun by killing the gunner in a hand-to-hand fight. But not until a bullet from a German Luger had ploughed through his body, piercing his liver and intestines and leaving the walls of his abdomen so badly torn that he narrowly escaped immediate death from his wounds. The government paid all his doctor's fees, hospital expenses, and furnished transportation back to the United States; nor was that all; they saw to it that he got twenty-five dollars every thirty days, that his wife and three children should not want for anything.

Ed did not want to presume upon the government, but recently he came down with the scarlet fever and mastered up courage to put in a request for an increased compensation allowance. The government couldn't do anything for Ed just then. The American Legion heard about Ed and believing that something could be done for him, representatives of the Okanogan County post of the Legion went before the board of commissioners to solicit an appropriation from the county soldiers' relief fund. It was granted, and will tide him over until the recently passed Reed-Johnson rehabilitation law comes to his permanent relief.

Will Permit Trainees to Retain Their Books

Through the instrumentality of the American Legion recently an order was issued from the United States Veterans' bureau which permits rehabilitated vocational trainees to retain their books and supplies furnished them by the government for use during their training. Heretofore it has been the policy of the bureau to insist upon the return of all books and materials charged to trainees upon the completion of this course. The Legion argued that this material when returned to the government was second-hand and had little or no salvage value, whereas it would be a real asset to the graduated trainee.

Won Attendance Prize

In a parade celebrating the 25th anniversary of Woodbridge township, New Jersey, the American Legion post of Highland Park won the one hundred dollar first prize offered for the post of the Legion with the best percentage of attendance. Every town, borough and municipality within a radius of twenty miles was represented in the parade.

"Campbell's" Song Old One.

The song, "The Campbells Are Coming," was composed in 1715, when the earl of Mar raised the standard for the Stuarts against George I., says the Detroit News. John Campbell was commander in chief of his majesty's forces and the rebellion was quashed. The main interest now attached to the famous song is connected with the siege of Lucknow in the Indian rebellion in 1857. Nana Sahib had massacred women and children most foully and while the survivors were expecting instant death a Scotch woman lying on the ground heard the pibroch and exclaimed: "Linna ye hear it? Dinna ye hear it? The pipes of Havelock sound." And soon after the rescue was accomplished.

Electrocution Used in 1749.

Death by electrocution is considered a comparatively modern invention, yet Benjamin Franklin used it nearly one hundred years ago. In 1749 Franklin wrote a friend: "A turkey is to be killed by electric shock, and roasted for our dinner by the electric jack before a fire kindled by the electric bottle." The "electric jack" referred to was an electrostatic motor strong enough to rotate an iron rod passed through a turkey prepared for cooking, says a writer in the Mentor.

ORDINANCE NO. 502.

To issue and sell bonds of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, to raise money with which to purchase appropriate furniture to furnish the different office rooms and other apartments of the City Building of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Whereas, This Council has requested the City Auditor to issue her certificate as to the estimated life of the equipment proposed to be furnished to the different apartments of said City Building, and the Auditor has certified to this Council such estimated life of the equipment, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds to be fifteen years; and

Whereas, This Council estimates that a tax for said bonds will first appear on the duplicate for the tax year 1925, and that the final tax settlement with the County Treasurer, next following the inclusion of a tax for the issue in the annual budget by the County Auditor, as provided by law, will be obtained not earlier than the first day of September, 1926, and will require $55 as interest for one year until such taxes are collected and available, which interest has been provided for in this bond issue. This ordinance is prepared under the General Code of Ohio; especially Section 3339.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, two-thirds of all the members elected or appointed thereto concurring.

Section 1. That for the purpose of raising money to furnish the office rooms and other apartments with appropriate furniture according to the different uses, it is hereby declared to be necessary to issue and sell and there shall be issued and sold a series of bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the sum of ONE THOUSAND AND FIFTY-FIVE DOLLARS ($1055).

Section 2. Said bond shall be of the denomination of $1055. It shall be dated not later than September first, 1924; shall draw interest at the rate of five and one-half per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September of each year, upon the presentation and surrender of said bond, bearing the facsimile signature of the City Auditor. The first interest shall be due and payable on the first day of March, 1925, and semi-annually thereafter. Said bond shall be numbered (one) and said bond shall be serially numbered one (1). Said bond shall mature September first, 1934, and said bond shall serially mature September first, 1934.

Section 3. Said bond shall be prepared by the City Solicitor, be signed by the Mayor and City Auditor, sealed with the City Seal and recorded in the office of the Sinking Fund Trustees; shall express upon its face the purpose for which it is issued, and the fact that it is issued pursuant to law and this ordinance; shall be payable both principal and interest, at the office of the Treasurer of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio; shall be issued and sold under the direction of the Finance Committee of Council.

Section 4. That the proceeds of the sale of said bond, except the premiums and accrued interest thereon, shall be placed in the City Treasury to the credit of The City Building Furnishing Fund, and shall be disbursed on proper vouchers for the purpose of approximately furnishing the different office rooms and other apartments of the City Building of the City of Circleville, Ohio, and for no other purpose, for which purpose said money is hereby appropriated, and the premiums and accrued interest received from said sale shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund.

Section 5. That the faith, revenue and credit of the City of Circleville, Ohio, are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of both principal and interest of the bond herein before described, in accordance with the laws and constitution of the State of Ohio.

Section 6. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of a bond promptly when and as the same falls due and also to create and maintain a fund sufficient to discharge the said bond at maturity, there shall be levied on all the taxable real estate property of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period for which said bond is to run, in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bond and as when the same falls due, and also to provide for the discharge of the principal of said serial bond at maturity. That said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, duplicated and extended upon the tax levied and collected by the same officers in the same manner and at the same time that the taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. All funds derived from said tax levies hereby required, shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund which, together with all interest collected on the same shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bond when and as the same fall due.

Section 7. That the City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor as required by Section 5649-1b of the G. C. of Ohio.

Section 8. That the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized and directed to make and execute a contract for the furnishing herein provided for with the lowest and best bidder after advertisement according to law.

Section 9. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law. Passed in Council this 20th day of August, 1924.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

Mrs. Mary Rife extended the hospitality of her home on Watt street to members of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. A goodly number were present. Devotions were led by Miss Clara Woolver and the lesson leader, Mrs. Elm, gave a very interesting talk on the Jews and Christianity. An informal report was given by Mrs. Tolbert and Mrs. Ritz of the School of Missions at the Lancaster camp grounds. A very pleasant social time was enjoyed by those present.

Pitch-Blende.
 Up to the time of M. and Mme. Curie's discovery, pitch-blende, the jet black mineral in which radium is found, was regarded as being almost valueless. Mining companies actually paid large sums to have the residue of its pitch-blende supplies from which other minerals had been extracted, carted away to the destructor. In this manner many millions of dollars in radium was lost forever.

No Good Reason for Neglecting Gardens

Remember to Make Successful Vegetable Plantings.

Dry weather and being behind with the farm work are no reasons for neglecting the garden. The fellow who gets the best price for his vegetables looks ahead and has them when the other fellow has allowed his garden to go to waste. Remember to make successive plantings, and keep in mind the surplus needed for canning, advises A. E. Schilleter, extension horticulturist at Clemson college, who suggests the following things to do in the garden at this season:

1. Insects are bad. Cabbage and tomato worms may be checked by dusting the plants (when wet with dew) with a mixture of equal parts of arsenate of lead and air-slaked lime. Plant lice and pumpkin bugs may be checked by spraying with nicotine. Cucumber and squash borers can be best checked by clean up methods and early planting.

2. Spray tomatoes and melons with Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead to prevent and check diseases and insects. Keep the grape vines covered with Bordeaux to prevent black rot.

3. Corn, potatoes, and beans require good cultivation. Keep the top soil loose and save moisture.

4. Lengthen the season by keeping the vegetables gathered when ready for use. Squash, okra, beans and cucumbers cease to bear when allowed to stand on vines.

5. Shading the ground with old papers after small seeds have been planted often results in better stands. Water and make a dust mulch about the plants immediately after setting them out. In setting out large tomato plants, take up and transplant with a ball of wet soil.

Juries of Farmers Pass Verdict on Scrub Sires

An outline for conducting scrub-sire trials, recently prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, has been distributed to practically every state in accordance with several hundred requests. While county agents plan to conduct most of the trials, a surprisingly large number are being planned by school superintendents, live stock organizations, business men, debating societies, creamery organizations, live stock breeders, agricultural officials of railroads, county farm bureaus, and, in one case, by a silo manufacturer.

Judging from the plans outlined, many trials will be conducted before juries of farmers, in connection with county fairs, agricultural clubs, and farmers' picnics, although most of them will be staged as independent affairs. In a Minnesota locality the fate of the scrub sire will be decided in a town hall debate.

Copies of the outline may be obtained on application to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Carelessness Is Cause of Spread of Foul-Brood

It is best to remove diseased colonies from the apiary as soon as discovered. Carelessness is the cause of most of the spread of foul-brood. Never use combs or equipment that have come from an apiary or district where foul-brood is known to exist. When a colony shows disease every frame connected with it should be destroyed. If there is any possibility of robbing diseased colonies should not be opened. Be careful about moving frames of honey from one hive to another. The liberal use of hot lye water is advised in the inner surface of all hives that have been used. Be careful to remove and prevent bees getting at infected combs or honey.

FARM NOTES

Give the little chicks milk and plenty of it.

A small flock of hens will insure breakfast eggs.

Sweet clover is showing its excellence this season as a useful pasture crop.

You are using the soil to produce crops of economic value. Do not grow useless weeds this season.

The estimated number of horses on farms in this country the first of the year was 18,203,000 and of mules 5,436,000.

If you spend a dollar's worth of labor pulling a dollar's worth of fodder which cuts a dollar's worth from the corn yield, you have lost a dollar and your time.

Variety of food is an economical and practical means of stimulating the digestive system of sheep and so long as continued, sickness will be practically unknown in the flock.

Fowls that "get bald" or lose the feathers on the head or back of the neck are usually affected with the depluming mite. A mixture of sulphur and lard rubbed on the parts will help.

Twenty cows producing an average of a hundred and fifty pounds of butterfat will give three thousand pounds a year. Ten three-hundred-pound cows will give the same amount. Why milk the extra ten?

Bernice Ginder,
 County Superintendent.

The following essay by Dorothy Johnson on the subject "How Total Abstinence Increases the Margin of Safety Against Accidents" was awarded the first prize in its class:

"The complexity of modern life with the increasing population makes accidents inevitable and every precaution must be taken against it.

"Scientific experiments have shown that alcohol, so affects the brain cells and nervous system, as to cause many accidents. It makes one less careful in the presence of danger; it weakens self control causing unsteadiness; it makes one less able to recognize danger; it renders one less active to cope with danger when seen. A man under the influence of liquor may not only endanger himself but may become a menace to others. For instance a drunken automobile driver endangers all who are on the road or a half drunken railroad engineer or telegraph agent may be responsible for the injury or death of many people.

"In industry, the value of total abstinence in preventing accidents is well known. A certain steel factory employing about ten thousand men used to allow the employees to bring liquor into the factory. At that time fifteen to twenty men were killed annually. Later the men were not permitted to bring liquor into the factory but were given an intermission in which they were allowed to secure it. Still later, all drinking among their employees was prohibited. When this was done it was very seldom that a man was killed.

"The medical directors of three large life insurance companies estimated that from seven to forty-three per cent of accidents are due directly or indirectly to alcohol. Seven per cent of the railroad accidents, eight per cent of the street car accidents, ten per cent of those caused by automobiles, eight per cent of those due to vehicles and horses, forty-three per cent heat prostration and sunstrokes, seven per cent of machinery accidents, eight per cent of the accidents in mines and quarries, thirteen per cent of the drowning and ten per cent of the gunshot wounds, are brought about entirely or partially by alcohol.

"Mr. Charles L. Huston, vice president of the Lukens Iron and Coal company of Pennsylvania says, "There was a decrease of fifty-four per cent in the number of accidents the first six dry months in Coatesville compared with the corresponding months of the previous year when the town was wet."

"In view of these facts the insurance department of the State Industrial Accident Commission in Los Angeles has ruled that an employee injured after drinking is not entitled to compensation. The United States government found that seventy-seven per cent or more out of seven thousand employees discriminate against modern drinkers.

"John G. Woolly says 'You will listen vainly for one brave, honest word among all the voices of the century, that speaks in favor of alcohol on the score of safety for the people.'

Frances Willard adds her testimony:

"Write it on the workhouse gate Write it on the school boy's slate, Write it in the copy book, Where there's drink there's danger."

"Write it over every gate, On the church and halls of state, In the heart at every band, On the laws of every land, Where there's drink there's danger."

Indian Infant Death Rate.

The infant death rate among prehistoric American Indians was high, M. W. Sterling, ethnologist of the United States National museum, concludes from his recent exploration of ancient town sites discovered by him near Moberidge, S. D. About three baby skeletons were found to every adult skeleton discovered. An almost complete mummy of an eight-months-old child was among the finds. The body had been accidentally mummified through the action of copper salts. Copper ornaments buried with the baby to accompany it into the next world. Mr. Sterling explained, had served to preserve its body in this world. An adult body, similarly preserved, was also found.

The first woman preachers were Quakers, since women have from the organization of the Society of Friends shared with men the right of speaking in meeting. Rev. Antoinette Brown was the first woman in America and probably in the world, to be ordained as a Congregationalist minister. Later she became a Unitarian. She was graduated from Oberlin college in 1848, and 50 years later she received the degree of doctor of divinity from the theological seminary there.

Schooner on Iceberg.

A steamer was rounding Cape Horn recently when the captain saw a gigantic iceberg floating in the water, and on it was a large three-masted schooner with its boats still in position, but apparently no one was on board. It was impossible to get near enough to it to see its name, and what had happened to its crew remains a mystery.

AMUSEMENTS

Bill Hart again.
 "Wild Bill Hickok," sure was an ideal comeback vehicle for William S. Hart, but to have followed it up with a picture like "Singer Jim McKee" which was shown for the first time yesterday at the Met theater, is a real achievement, for Bill not only stars in the picture but wrote the story himself and produced the picture himself for Paramount.

Of course it's a western—Bill's out of his element in anything else. The same staff that made all of the previous Hart pictures made this one. Clifford Smith direction, J. G. Hawks making the adaptation and Dwight Warren behind the camera.

There is unusual appeal in "Singer Jim" for a western thriller—and what a thriller it is! You're just about getting back your breath after one hair-raising stunt when something else happens. It's no picture for a nervous individual—and when Hart and his pinto pony take a header over a sheer precipice—that will about finish you.

Phyllis Haver at one time a favored Sennett sea-side siren, plays opposite the star. You remember her in "The Christian?" But she was never before so charming and attractive as in "Singer Jim." Gordon Russell plays Buck Holden, the principal masculine supporting role. Others include Bert Spottle, Edward Coxen and William Dyer.

If you don't see "Singer Jim McKee" you'll never see the real Bill Hart.

BIG CIRCUS

Mammoth Parade at Eleven O'clock - Two Shows, Afternoon and Evening.

The Sells-Floto show, three sections of 43 cars, arrived this morning from Portsmouth over the Norfolk & Western railroad and a crowd of a thousand people was at Western avenue to see the interesting sight of unloading a show.

The first cars to unload were those holding the tent poles of the big top, then those of the side show and mess tents and lastly the stables and the cages holding the animals. The stock cars in which were the performing horses were the last, with the elephants and camels to be unloaded.

The show is pitched on the Mason lot just over Hargus creek. Two performances will be given, afternoon and evening. The price of admission to the big top is seventy-five cents, reserved seats extra, or seventy-five cents more.

From here the show goes to Xenia and thence to Cincinnati.

In the Old Steamboat Days.

Nobody dared ship bacon on a fast packet in old steamboat days on the Mississippi, because, if the craft were challenged to a race, the loyal crew would seize the freight and throw it into the furnace to make more steam in the boilers. The engineer was famed afar for his skill and nerve. His religion was never to be passed on the river, says the Detroit News. In times of stress he would send a negro up to sit on the safety valve, that the precious element of speed might not be sacrificed to mere safety.

FIND MALNUTRITION MENACES THE NATION

Many Seemingly Well Children Are Sufferers From Poor Food.

New York.—The malnutrition of children in the United States constitutes a serious health problem, according to the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, which for the last four and a half years has been testing various methods of combating this evil. Some of the facts ascertained from the society's study are included in a statement given out here.

It is set forth that among 2,181 apparently well children examined in the medical clinics of the society, 636, or 30 per cent, were diagnosed as malnourished. The society is seeking the most effective methods of correcting habits of eating or living which cause malnutrition, and has issued a monograph entitled "Food for the Family," containing suggestions for proper feeding as a means of insuring proper nutrition.

This condition of malnutrition is not due to insufficient food, but to the constant use of improperly chosen food or the inability of the body to make use of the food eaten because of insufficient air, rest, sunshine or physical defects. If these children were in danger from fire or industrial accidents, the report of the society says, every safety device and preventive measure known would be urged to protect them.

Although the effects of malnutrition are much slower, often much more indirect and much less dramatic than those from fire or accidents, they are even more deplorable because of the larger number affected and the lingering misery resulting.

"Many a wage earner is unable to increase his income to the safety level because of health conditions due to poor nutrition. Too many children who apparently show no signs of disease or malnutrition are allowed to drift into the wage-earning period with only a part of their rightful earning capacity developed.

Increases Living Costs.

"Malnutrition thus concerns more than the individual or the home in which it occurs. It affects the whole country by reducing the economic production of the individual and thereby increasing the cost of living. Since much of the sickness and lowered vitality in later life is the result of poor nutrition, as physicians have frequently stated, the importance of providing educational guidance in nutrition as well as providing attention for the correction of physical defects is very great."

To ascertain what are the principal causes of malnutrition, the society analyzed the condition of 275 families among those which its nutrition bureau is now assisting. Of that number, 227 families required instruction in the preparation of the proper food; 198 needed assistance in the planning of meals; 46 families had to be helped in marketing, because simple foods, entirely strange to them, were recommended; while special diets had to be planned for 88 families. Only 27 families needed financial assistance to provide adequate food. Greater economy was found to be necessary in 44 families, while in 60 families assistance took the form of helping them to readjust expenditures.

Indifference, women working and no one at home to look after the children, living conditions too congested, resulting in inadequate rest and improper ventilation, and mother ill, were other problems found to be responsible for malnutrition.

Twelve Rules for Health.

A guide to proper nutrition which the A. I. C. P. will use in its efforts to reduce malnutrition among the tenement districts of this city includes, in addition to suggested diets and menus, a "dozen good health rules for children," which read as follows:

Emphatically DO—

1. Use milk—fresh, clean, whole milk for children. Every growing child should have a quart a day in some form.

2. Eat plenty of vegetables.

3. Be sure that a school child has a good luncheon, not candy, pickles and ice cream cones.

4. Eat coarse food, such as oatmeal, bran muffins and vegetables, so that the bowels will not be constipated.

5. Eat slowly and chew food well.

6. Have the meals at the same hours each day.

7. Eat only bread, or crackers and milk, or bread and butter between meals, and only in the middle of the morning or the afternoon.

8. Wash hands and face before eating.

9. Drink plenty of water between meals.

10. Be in bed by 9 o'clock or before.

11. Have windows opened in the sleeping room at night.

12. Brush the teeth at least once a day.

Important DON'T'S—

Do not let the children eat pork or veal, much meat of any kind, fried foods, rich pies and cakes, strong spices and vinegar, green or spoiled fruit.

Do not let children drink tea, coffee, beer, wine, sodas.

Do not let them eat between meals, except the things named in No. 7 above. Do not let them eat candy, ice cream cones, nuts, cakes and cookies between meals.

TOOK OWN LIFE

John Deffenbaugh Shot Himself With Revolver—Funeral at Tarlton.

John Deffenbaugh, single, aged 57, took his life at his home in Laurelville Thursday morning, August 28.

The suicide was a carpenter by occupation and was well known. He had been in a stupor for several days caused by drinking, and it was feared that he might commit a rash act.

Thursday morning friends went to his home to see if they could be of some assistance and found all the doors securely fastened. Efforts were made to arouse Mr. Deffenbaugh and William Dumm forced open a transom and assisted Harry Sells a boy to climb into the house. In the bedroom Deffenbaugh was found cold in death. In his right hand was a revolver and a gaping wound in his heart, with blood bespattered garments told the story.

Mr. Deffenbaugh was born in Tarlton in 1867 and was the son of Franklin and Malinda Eby Deffenbaugh. One brother and three sisters survive. They are Mrs. Fred Lutz, of Whisler; Mrs. Louise Dawson, of Greentown and Mrs. Bowsher and Harry Deffenbaugh of Columbus.

The funeral services will be held at Tarlton at the undertaking establishment of H. E. Deffenbaugh Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. Interment will be in the Tarlton cemetery.

A Change of Air.

Hiram Skinnum was the village tightwad. He walked on his neighbor's front lawns to save his shoes. His wife had been ailing for years, and began growing weaker. There didn't seem to be much wrong with her except living with Hiram, but she sank so that at last he called the doctor. After long examination the doctor told Hiram: "She needs a change of air. Send her away." Hiram thought over the expense awhile and said: "Doc, you say she needs a change of air. I can't afford to send her away. But I'll tell ye what I'll do. I'll get her an electric fan."

Every Little Helps.

Any one who questions the intention of the English to pay their war debts may feel reassured after reading this story, recently received from London: Edwin Arlington Robinson was on a train over there and lacking a ha'penny of having enough for his fare he borrowed the coin from an Englishman. A few days later he again met the Englishman and tried to pay him back, but that gentleman replied with a generous air, "Never mind, old chap. Let it apply on the debt."—Boston Transcript.

Ancient Calculating Machine.

The ancient Incas of Peru possessed an efficient calculating machine in the "quipu." This instrument consists of a knotted cord about sixteen yards long, containing 100 knots. These knots are divided into ten unequal sections by as many silver beads, representing the odd numbers from one to nineteen. The sections are of different colors, which were important factors in the calculating process. The silver beads between the groups represent the even numbers from two to twenty. Calculations involving tens, hundreds and thousands are possible by this device, which was first used by the Chinese, later by the Japanese and must have been brought to America by Asiatic migrations in ages past.

Gas Masks for Enginemen.

Enginemen on locomotives when going through a tunnel frequently encounter heat ranging as high as 130 degrees, with smoke and moisture-laden atmosphere often filled with deadly carbon monoxide gas. The bureau of mines has experimented with gas masks for use of cab crews, and has perfected a small pocket respirator for quick use when in a tunnel. A mere satisfactory method for combating the gas is to supply fresh air to the men from the air brake system on the train. A rubber tube fitted with a funnel which is held close to the face furnishes an adequate amount of air.

Chopped From Asphalt.

After chopping with axes for more than two hours, workmen succeeded in rescuing a man from a block of asphalt where he had been imbedded all night, at Canton, O. He had fallen over a small embankment into a pool of warm asphalt while walking near an asphalt plant the night before his discovery. In the meantime the asphalt hardened. He apparently suffered no serious effects.

Sea Trout in Shetland Lakes.

Lerwick is almost the only town of any size, on almost the only island of any size (called mainland because it is the largest) of the hundred and more islands of the Shetland group. Lerwick is the capital and the center of the herring fishing trade, says the Detroit News. Owing to trawlers of many nationalities putting into the harbor, there are even more than the usual number of plates of worship, and there is a cinema. Shetland is riddled with lochs (lakes). There is a score within easy reach of Lerwick. Of these lochs some are preserved and others half-preserved, but most are free. Sea trout come into every loch, or fiord, and nowhere in the Shetlands is one more than three miles from the sea.

Cause of Earthquakes.

The usual cause of earthquakes is dislocation of the crust of the earth along fracture lines. There is a fracture line along the coast of Japan and another along the coast of California. The crust of the earth is constantly in motion, up or down, sideways or twisting. Millions of years may pass before bringing a strain so severe that the strata will slip or crumble along any great fault in the earth's crust, but when that slip comes there is an earthquake. Usually it is only a fraction of an inch, or a few inches. In Yakutat, southern Siberia, a slip of forty feet was once recorded, and the quake was felt all over the world.

Can Absorb Much Poison.

Dogs and horses can take 10 times as much morphine in comparison to their body weight as man can. The pigeon can take 500 times as much, while a frog is unhurt by a dose a thousand times greater, weight for weight, than one which will kill a human being.

Court of St. James.

The name Court of St. James is derived from the palace of St. James which fronts on Pall Mall, London. The palace was originally a hospital dedicated to St. James. It was reconstructed and made into a manor by Henry VIII, who connected it through a park with Whitehall, which was then the royal palace. St. James palace was the royal residence and seat of British government from William III to Victoria. In 1837 the royal residence was transferred to Buckingham palace, but many offices are still located in the old palace, and its name is still closely associated with the British government.

England's Tobacco
England always takes the best of the Havana tobacco and allows the rest of the world to get along with the leftovers. An English importer of Havana who has been in the trade for 30 years says there are 100,000 cigar smokers in England, and that those islands consume 28,000,000 Havana cigars in a year—say $10,000,000 worth. This importer put the number of other sorts of cigars smoked in Britain at 400,000,000.

Through the Needle's Eye
It is a fact that there is in the wall of Jerusalem a small gateway built for the use of pedestrians and known by a name which is translated as "The Needle's Eye." The gate is still in existence.

Gretna Green Marriages.
After the abolition of Fleet marriages in 1754, Gretna Green became notorious as the place of celebration of the marriages of runaway couples from England. In England publication of banns and the presence of a priest at the ceremony were necessary, but to conclude a lawful marriage in Scotland at that time it was only necessary for an unmarried couple to go before witnesses and declare themselves man and wife. Gretna Green marriages are now at an end, however, in consequence of a law which decrees that no irregular marriage contracted in Scotland shall be valid unless one of the parties resides in Scotland, or has done so for 21 days next preceding such marriages.

Blindness in Egypt.
The prevalence of blindness in Egypt is probably traceable to the fact that the fly is sacred in that country. It is said that a mother will not kill a fly nor even brush it from the eyelid of her child. Infection is often carried from one child to another, and in the case of diseased eyes the malady is spread in this manner.

Good Guess.
Apple was among the first words on which the class had been well drilled. One day when Betty's attention was elsewhere the word ape was introduced. In the drill which followed "ape" was Betty's word. She looked at it somewhat puzzled, then smiled at her teacher and said: "Half apple."—Chicago American.

Keep Old Lantern Festival.
In Florence there still survives, on the evening of September 7, some trace of the ancient festival of the lanterns. This fete is entirely peculiar to Florence and the near neighborhood, and the lanterns with which it is traditionally celebrated are also a local specialty and are produced not in factories but by the people themselves. Tissue paper of various colors is employed, says the Detroit News, this being stretched on strips of card or thin wood and so bent that the lantern takes the shape of a basket, globe, boat, bell or any other form desired. The different sides or quarters are cut from different colored papers and the whole is trimmed round the edges and angles with long bamboo strips, also gayly tricked out with twisted fringes of cut paper.

Minnesingers.
The name Minnesingers is given to certain lyric poets of Germany that flourished during the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries. They were generally men of noble birth, and sang of love, friendship, religion, war and adventure at the courts of kings and feudal barons. Although akin to the troubadours of Provence, the Minnesingers treated love in a more refined spirit and manifested a greater reverence for woman. They wrote principally in the Swabian dialect of middle high German. The most famous of their number were Walther von der Vogelweide and Wolfram von Eschenbach. The hohensautens, the dukes of Austria and Hermann of Thuringia were the chief patrons of the Minnesingers.

Mahogany.
The forest service says that over sixty different species of timber have been put on the market as mahogany. The woods now commonly sold under the name are true mahogany from tropical America, "African mahogany" and "Philippine mahogany." Birch and red gum are usually acknowledged as imitations of the wood, although they are sometimes used in furniture sold as genuine mahogany.

Aluminum Alloy Coating.
In the protective process called "calorizing," articles of iron and other metals are cleaned, placed in an airtight retort partly filled with finely divided metallic aluminum and aluminum oxide, and kept at a high temperature for several hours. A current of hydrogen is passed through the retort. The metal's surface becomes coated with aluminum alloy.

Origin of "Mister."

Master was originally used as a title, but only in speaking of a man of high social rank or learning. It gradually was extended in application, but has been superseded by "Mr." The obscure pronunciation doubtless began while the written form, "Master," was still commonly employed. Before the end of the Seventeenth century the abbreviation "Mr." (originally only one among many others used for the word in all applications) had come to be restricted to the use in which the pronunciation was obscured, and to be the only permitted mode of writing the word in that use. Thenceforward "Master" and "Mr." were practically two words.

Casting Lots

for the Rajah,
the Big Prize

By AUGUSTUS SHERWIN

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"AGREED!"

Twelve men clamped down twelve ugly-looking loaded revolvers on a great flat rock at the word. Gib Dorkell, bully and former leader of the group, spoke the word.

"Don't get riled, Gib," spoke bold Dan Perkins. "You've had the run of the camp while we were working. Now that we disband fairness and equity is the rule. The majority says equal division on the crumbs of splints. As to the Rajah, that goes by lot."

"That nigger in on the deal, too, I suppose!" growled Gib.

"Didn't 'the nigger' find it?" challenged Dan, coolly.

Bad Gib was silent, but he darted a harming glance of enmity at the little shrinking native who was the cook of the camp.

"See here," proceeded Dan, "you bossed us into cutting away from a find where later comers found ten fortunes. Then you got your dander up and nigh well killed old Dinah, the mother of Ramon here, 'the nigger,' as you call him. Clyde Burridge defended her and—well, you found your place."

Bad Gib winced. A flashing quiver crossed the face of the native, but was instantly repressed.

"You drove the woman into the wilderness to die and sent Burridge on the same route. It didn't please us, but you was sworn boss. You ain't now. The pact is broken when we stop work. That was the bargain. So the majority rules."

"And the majority," piped in Big Ben Boulder, the giant of the camp, "votes for an even division on the chicken feed and draw lots on the Rajah."

As Ben spoke he threw across the rock a chamols bag and, lifting one end, tipped out into the sunlight a thousand prismatic sparkles of radiance. Then he selected a dull, yellowed lump from the mass.

"Two hundred carats, if anything!" he gloated, gloatingly twisting the big diamond between forefinger and thumb. "Mark some chips one to twelve, some of you. Leave one blank, throw them in the bag, and here's to the lucky man!"

"Line up, men!" ordered Dan, jangling the gambling ivories. Bad Gib drew 13 and cursed viciously. Five others followed. It came the turn of Ramon. With his usual deference and timidity he approached the bag, put in his hand and drew out—blank!

Dan grasped a hand of the astonished but delighted Ramon, in honest congratulation and placed the wonderful gem in the palm of the other.

Ramon sought Big Ben at dusk. He led him aside. Bad Gib, watching his every movement, was glowering at him.

"You are my friend," spoke the native to Ben. "Listen—it is fate. The man who drove my mother to starvation, death, and my only friend, Burridge, after her, will never allow me to get to Cape Wold with my treasure."

"Give him the slip, Ramon," advised Ben blunty.

"I cannot hope it," asserted Ramon, dolefully. "My friend, see—I must carry it about with me. I dare not hide it, for he's watching me."

Ramon drew out a chamols bag and shook it. The eyes of the observing Gib shone like two living coals of fire.

"If you would do something for me," suggested Ramon plaintively. "See, friend," and he held up a knobbed club. All of the camp knew of this souvenir of the father of Ramon, who had been a native chief. It was a war club, sacredly treasured by the son.

"You will reach Cape Wold in safety," Ramon resumed. "If perchance Burridge has reached there, or my mother, or you find only those of my kin, give them this family memento."

"Sure, I will," acquiesced Ben, willingly, but casually. "Don't give up, Ramon. Light out."

That night Ramon stole away from the camps. Within an hour Bad Gib was also missing. Big Ben shook his head gravely.

A month later to a day Ben arrived at Cape Wold. A surprise greeted him, for he found Burridge there, and in the same little hotel, being nursed under his direction, the mother of Ramon.

Burridge told a vivid story of how he had come across the outcast woman in the wilderness. The next morning he gave the war club to the sick woman.

A week later, worn to a skeleton, with wild eyes and mixed emotions of excitement and delight, Ramon arrived on the scene.

When he learned of all that Burridge had done for his mother he fairly groveled at his feet in a paroxysm of extravagant gratitude.

"The war club—it is safe?" he inquired in a quiver of suspense and expectancy.

"Your mother has it," explained Burridge.

And then, when Ramon returned with the ancient relic to Burridge, it was to disclose a hidden cavity in the knob end of the club, within which, snug and secure, reposed the Rajah.

They sold the splendid gem for a small fortune. The share forced upon Burridge took him back posthaste to a certain loving little lady in a distant land, waiting to become his bride.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service)

"CLEAN 'EM UP" IS HARRY FOX'S MOTTO

Harry Fox, ace of American Legion membership campaigners in South Dakota and the Middle West, is a dry cleaner by trade.

"Clean 'em up" is his motto in business and in his Legion efforts. He is the niftiest little mop-up man going, when it comes to getting the boys to sign up for the Legion.

If you don't believe it just take a slight peep at his record. Two hundred and eighty-five paid-up members signed up in the first four months of this year. If there's a better record it hasn't been disclosed to date.

Harry has a selling personality. The boys just can't resist his line of talk when he opens up on them and shows them the "dotted line" for their signature.

Fox is a charter member of Harold Mason post of the American Legion at Sioux Falls, S. D.

This isn't his first attempt to sell Legion memberships, either. He is one of those fellows who keeps everlastingly at it. In 1920 he first began operations on a department store scale.

That year he signed up 80 members. The next year he came under the wire with a grand total of 100. A 25 per cent gain wasn't just Harry's idea of a healthy, growing business. The next year he hitched up his belt a little tighter and rolled in 150 members.

Then the membership, somehow, struck a slump. Harry didn't have as much time for it, or something. The best he could do was 125.

He was downright disappointed. He will confess it to you himself.

But he was game. He merely grinned with a grin that meant business. He went out to show the rest of the gang that it was just a fluke. He made up his mind to beat that record 'way yonder.

Did he? Well, 285 in the first four months of 1924 rather looks like it. And the year's not nearly over yet. Harry may have all of South Dakota signed up in his post before the year's over if the other fellows don't keep their eyes open.

How does he do it? It's really very simple.

He meets a prospect. He explains the work of the Legion earnestly to him. He tells him about its service to the individual and the community at large. He gets that prospect in the frame of mind where he just naturally wants to join a big organization which does things.

Mr. Veteran may not join right then. It takes a little time with some of them. But he goes away with a look on his face that shows he's got something to think about.

Does Harry quit then? Not on your life! The fun's just really getting well started.

The only time Harry sits down is when he is driving the delivery wagon for the dry-cleaning establishments of which he is part owner.

The next time he sees his man he comes right back at the old proposition.

"You would not have been outside during the war, would you?"

That's the way he greets him.

And Mr. Fox follows that query up with another, equally to the point.

"Then why be on the outside now?"

Harry never says quit until Mr. Veteran has got his name down on that little card, with a face beaming with a look of deep-down-in-the-soul satisfaction that tells he's mighty glad he's done it, too.

He is married. He has spent most of his life in Sioux Falls. He served with the Eighth division, the Pathfinders, at Camp Freeman, California.
